Innovative solutions need co-operation

The ongoing transformation to a bio-based society offers an enormous opportunity for all companies looking for new sustainable products. Alternative compositions of raw materials, renewable construction materials, reduced water and heat requirements are the main challenges. They can't be answered by one industry alone. We need a close co-operation with different sectors such as the process and mechanical engineering, chemistry, converting industries as well as with research institutes. The Paper Technology Research Association (FPT) plays a major role in bringing this widespread experience together. Become part of this fascinating network!
